Approved for Release: 2020/01/17 C06739006

SECRET

2011-054
Document 1

Chief, Security Analysis Group 21 November 1974

Jerry G. Brown

[redacted] (b)(1)

1. [redacted] (b)(1)
to that portion relating information pertaining to the ostensible mission of Yuriy ~~Ivanovich~~ LOGINOV as related by Paul J. SCOTT, to wit: that SCOTT was in South Africa in October 1967 during which time he talked with "General Van DEUBERGH," Chief of South African Security (intelligence) about LOGINOV. SCOTT did not talk to LOGINOV, but ostensibly "General Van DEUBERGH," ostensibly told SCOTT that LOGINOV was on his way to the United States to set up a spy system of great porportions in that country and other countries in the Western Hemisphere ..... SCOTT recounted that the techniques to be employed by LOGINOV and other members of the ring would be that of disrupting. He stated that the major objective of this spy system was to disrupt two seats of government so badly in 1968 to render them powerless, namely Saigon and Washington.

2. The above information attributed to SCOTT was relayed to the Office of Security by the Internal Revenue Service, a member of which had received the information during a conversation with SCOTT. SCOTT is the subject of OS file [redacted] and is a relatively well known newsman. (b)(3)

3. Relative to the above, the writer recently recovered a copy of the 3 July 1968 edition of the Northern Virginia Sun column of the "Allen-Scott Report - New Korean Crisis Possible - by Robert S. ALLEN and Paul (J.) SCOTT." In this article, among other matters, was the statement:

> "Yuri Nikolaevitch Loginov, whose accidental capture in Johannesburg was one of the biggest spy catches in 10 years, has told South African security authorities that his actual target country was the U.S., to which he planned to travel via Canada.

[redacted] (b)(3)

SECRET

Approved for Release: 2020/01/17 C06739006

Approved for Release: 2020/01/17 C06739006

"According to information furnished the FBI and CIA, Loginov's main mission was to build a new Soviet espionage team within America's "new left," including the hiring of assassins among them.

"In one of his reports forwarded to Washington, Major-General J. J. Van Den Bergh, chief of Canadian passport and the way it was obtained should be of special interest to U. S. authorities.

"Loginov's passport, he ppinted out was provided by Yevgency Mikhailovich, a high-ranking member of the KGB (Societ Secret Police) who serves as a Russian diplomat in Canada."

4. The writer has reviewed the detailed [redacted] (b)(1)
[redacted] conducted by Peter KAPUSTA in Africa in 1967 and nothing was found to support SCOTT's statements which he attributed to the General. [redacted] (b)(1)
[redacted] The writer suspects either the General or SCOTT was fabricating for their own purposes, and the latter is considered more likely.

5. The above is for your information.

Jerry G. Brown
Security Analysis Group

JGB [redacted] (b)(3)

Approved for Release: 2020/01/17 C06739006